

3.2 Suitable Plant Selection for Exterior and Interior Vertical Greening Systems

Living walls can be hostile sites for plants but many of the problems are the same as for horizontal planting. Not all plants grow well in living walls. Some grow better in particular systems and less so in others. When choosing plants from a nursery, it is important select plants which are resistant to normal temperatures in the area throughout the year and have been climatised if imported.

NEXT

BACK TO INDEX